NEMO is the Voice of European Museums

Network of European Museum Organisations

We want

- museums to be able to exploit their potential to contribute to a broader social agenda
- museum collections to be as widely accessible as possible to all citizens
- museums to be recognised as an important deliverer of formal and informal learning
- museums to be recognised for the economic value they produce

To make this possible we

- advocate – we lobby agencies and stakeholders on European level and nationally
- share – we produce and exchange information to help and support all museums and museum professionals in Europe
- collaborate – we work with other organisations to advance common causes
